

CENTRE FOR TRANSNATIONAL COMMERCIAL LAW

April 2017

ABOUT THE CENTRE

The Centre for Transnational Commercial Law at National Law University, Delhi was established in 2016 to advance the study and practice of transnational commercial law. TCL is an emerging area of law and policy necessitated by cross-border movement of people and business transactions. The Centre seeks to be a guiding factor in teaching, research and policy formulation.

CTCL has been established with the aim of supporting an academic and policy interface. The foremost aim of the Centre is to provide a focal point for academics, practitioners and regulators through an interdisciplinary legal research. Research Projects, both fundamental and applied, training programmes, workshops/conferences, clinics and publications form some of the current activities. The Centre seeks to promote an environment for high quality research in all aspects of national, international, transnational, and comparative law. Consistent with this aim, CTCL actively engages in deliberations involving the Unification and Harmonization of International Private Laws along with the UNCITRAL, UNIDROIT, The Hague Conference and similar institutions & organizations. The Centre also aims to nurture and encourage the researchers of the future in this important area of law.
